Wade Chilcott has returned from Butte, where he has been visiting his old friend. Dick Coddington.

To-morrow is pay day for the Montana Union employes. The 5th of the month has heretofore been the day looked for-ward to by the railroad boys.

The work of compiling the new cook book to be issued by St. Mark's guild is about finished, and the manuscript will soon be in the printer's hands.

David G. Browne, treasurer of the Mon-tana board of world's fair commissioners and a wealthy Northern Montanan, was in the city yesterday.

Francis J. Roddy, the Butte artist, will be in Anaconda until Wednesday evening. His portraits are the finest ever seen in the northwest. Order through his agents, or at his rooms, 8 Main street.

Nels Elof, the 10-months old babe of Andrew Nelson, died Sunday evening of cholera infantum. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon, being conducted at the residence on Chestnut street by Rev. P. Lowry.

The Montana State Teachers' association will be held in Missoula Dec. 27, 28, 29 and 30. An excellent programme has been prepared for the meeting. One of the important features of the programme will be the exhibit of school work from all parts of Montana of all grades of work, from the lowest to the highest. Anaconda and Deer Lodge county will be largely represented.

A literary society was formed Saturday evening in the High school building by several young gentlemen of the city. meeting at the same place is called for Saturday evening and all persons, ladies especially, desiring to become members, are cordially invited to be present. "Resolved, That the orators of to-day are greater than those of a century ago," is the subject of debate.

An employe of the Anaconda fire brick works named Swansen met with a painful accident yesterday while at work. In moving about the net-work of timbers and rafters he ran against the end of a beam, striking his head in such a manner as to completely skin one side of it. He was removed to St. Ann's hospital, where the wound was dressed, and last evening was resting comfortably.

The two attractive chimney sweeps who have been doing work in this city are members of a delegation of 12 young men who started a couple of months ago from San Francisco to work their way to Chicago, intending to arrive there in time for the world's fair. Some of their number are in Salt Lake and Ogden, and others as far east as Cheyenne. It is their in-tention to meet in Chicago some time in June, take in everything of interest and return home in the fall in reclining chair

SESSION OF THE SOLONS

City Hall Building Extensively Discussed by the Alderman.

THE CEMETERY PROJECT

Streets and Alleys a Subject of Much Debate-Pointed Talk Directed to Denizens of the Bad Lands.

The city council met in regular session last night with Mayor Dwyer presiding. All members were present but Aldermen Walkup and Kane. After the reading by Clerk English of previous minutes and po-lice court report, a lengthy discussion ensued regarding fines and punishment of inmates of houses of ili fame, originating in an inquiry from Shovlin as to that part of the report respecting the fine of one woman singled out from a house or locality where many others were violating the ordinance. Attorney English stated that the woman had been complained of by persons accusing her of committing numerous petty thefts, and that she was gen-erally looked upon as a woman in need of close watching by the police; that the fine of $1 was imposed according to letter of

The mayor took a hand in the debate, and said the ordinance provides a fine of $5 shall be imposed upon keepers and $1 upon inmates of these houses; that in 1889 he circulated the petition which subsequently influenced the council to create the ordinance as now in force. He thought it not stringent enough, but hoped soon to see the council take steps toward removing them. He thought the ordinance was a disgrace and that it should be abol ished,and the statutes of Montana studied up to learn if # were possible to place a heavier fine and punishment on the keepers of these dens.

After reading of bills, which included that of street commissioner for 26 days at $3.50 per day, FitzPatrick asked the clerk to read sections 4 and 5 of ordinance 47, which reads, "The street commissioner to employed." He thought the bill should be tabled; that unless he had worked 10 hours for 26 days in November he should not be paid the $91. Of course he was employed by the council last spring for one year, but it didn't mean to pay him $3.50 for days when doing nothing. He was not working against Mr. O'Neil; only doing what he considered his duty to taxpayers of the city. Shovlin and FitzPatrick exchanged opinions on the subject, during which the Shovlin and FitzPatrick exchanged opinions on the subject, during which the former remarked that he could not see why the judge wished to cut off the salary of the street commissioner. FitzPatrick referred to history about an investigation of chief of police two or three months ago, when that offleer was charged with dereliet of duty and a big cry was raised. The police is docked when off duty or idle; why not street commissioner also? If the street commissioner also? If the street commissioner performs but five or six days of actual labor during the month, he should receive pay for only those days, and not for the full month. Ordinance is plain.

O'Neil was present and stated that he devoted all his time to the welfare of the street and alleys; when not working with pick and shovel he was giving orders to residents to clean up or repair their walks and considered that he earned his salar; he had given a $1,000 bond for the faithful performance of his duty. The mayor thought Mr. O'Neil was entitled to the amount asked; also thought he did good work and should receive credit for it; but said the mere fact of a bond being required of the commissioner did not justify him in neglecting work or expecting to draw salary for non-performance of duties; that there was plenty of work to be done and thought O'Neil would do it.

Barkovich moved to accept the bills and seconded by Burke, which was carried, PitzPatrick voting no, and especially requesting the cierk to record his vote as being solidly in the negative. Barkovich also made a motion that was carried that the proper authorities see to it at once and attend to a certain manhole of the sewer and flush the same.

The committee appointed at the last meeting of the fire department to wait on the council and secure an order for necessary supplies for the fire company presented a request for $225 worth of material. Fire Department Chief Hasley stated in detail the articles required and impressed upon the body the necessity of having them. The request was granted and the matter placed in the hands of the fire committee with power to act and report at the next meeting.

FitzPatrick, chairman of the special committee appointed to interview the taxpayers in regard to bonding the city to build a city hall, reported having seen a great many, and all but two favored the proposition. One of these voted against bringing the capital here on account of the increased taxes it would necessarily create. The alderman said there would no doubt be some opposition, but at present nearly everybody favored building.

Alderman Shoolin, also a member of the committee, said that he had met no one who disfavored the proposition. Of cour plain.
O'Neil was present and stated that he devoted all his time to the welfare of the building a hall.

FitzPatrick said that the majority of those with whom he had conferred in the matter believed bonding for more than $25,000 would work a hardship on taxpay-$25,000 would work a hardship on taxpayers and suggested that according to the constitution that amount would about be the limit for which the city had power to bond. He moved that the committee be retained and that they be granted power to secure plans and specifications and act in the premises as considered expedient, the matter to be brought up at the next meeting or as soon thereafter as practicable. Mayor Dwyer favored building a hall not only for the present population, but one that shall be a credit to a city of 10,000 or 15,000 inhabitants which this city is sure to have within two years. He thought $25,000 would build a hall that thought $25,000 would build a hall that would compare favorably with that in Butte, which cost nearly, if not, three times

Butte, which cost nearly, if not, three times that amount.

Shovlin, as chairman of the light committee, had visited the eastern part of town and concluded, with Murray and Walkup, that a light should be placed at the corner of Sixth and Birch streets; also one at the corner of First and Cedar, and the one at Chestnut and First should be moved farther east. Considerable argument preceded the adoption of the committee's report. The mayor turned the select committee over for not attending to the matter of securing land for a cemetary. Extension of time was granted. Health Officer Spelman appeared in behalf of the city scavenger, asking for an additional hour in which to complete his morning's work of carting refuse to the city dump. The sense of the council favored giving the hour asked, and after discussion of minor affairs the council adjourned.

BUTTE, Mont., Nov. 10, 1882.

DR. C. SCHULTZ, City:—I desire to make the following statement relative to my case in the hope that other unfortunate sufferers like myself may be equally benefited. I had been suffering for about three years from seminal weakness, tost manhood and nervous prostration, causing melanchely and loss of siep. My body was covered with ulcers and my forehead being swollen just over the orebows so badly as to have the appearance of growing horns. I was unable to obtain more than one hour's uninterrupted sleep at the time, the berribe liching and mental suffering caused by my disease making it impossible for me to sleep or rest. When my disease first appeared leosatied local physicians without resief. I then attempted to cure myself by using patent medicines, but again failing I consulted and was treated by several American specialists, who also failed to cure my. I was despaired of ever being cured, but a friend of mine recommending you I decided to try once more and so pul myself under your care with the result than after only two weeks' treatment I feel like a new man and am able to return to my work.

I take pleasure in certifying to this statement before a notary public and will recommend you personally to all my friends and acquaintances.

Subscribed and sworn before me on this toth day of November, 1872. C. L. CAMPBELL.
